- Watches everyone's hands. Occupational habit. She is not suspicious of the party specifically; she is suspicious of everyone equally.
- Will share information when it is tactically useful to do so. Withholds it when it is not. Considers this honest behaviour.

KAIDA SWIFT

HUMAN THIEF

Six years in the Critwall information markets has taught you that the people who ask the right questions early get paid; the people who ask the wrong questions late get hurt. You do courier work, evidence recovery, the occasional quiet extraction. You are good at not being seen, good at finding things people have hidden, and very good at knowing when a job has more layers than the client admitted to.

This job has layers.
